Higher Education: Top Tip for interviews

"Interviews are not about reciting what you already know – they are designed to give candidates a chance to show their real ability and potential,. Candidates will be encouraged to use their knowledge and apply their thinking to new problems in ways that will both challenge them and allow them to shine."

Samina Khan, Director of admissions and outreach at Oxford University

SSP: Who, what where when

We have been busy delivering our Higher Education in Focus programme to supplementary schools in London with visits to Birkbeck University and the University of West London. Students enjoyed a day of fun filled activities learning about university courses, accommodation and extra curricular opportunities.

"I improved my communications skills and going on this trip made me really think about what I want to do. By the end, I felt like I succeeded"

(Student, CEF School)

Teacher training

We visited Refugee Action York where we ran a session with teachers and parents on Student Finance and pathways to higher education; introducing them to our teachers toolkit; a valuable free resource for all supplementary schools. Find the toolkit here.
